

05/13/1987
Boston, MA, 02114

+1 (617) 838-0499
dcj.codes
david@dcj.codes

I am David Christian Jones, a front-end web engineer specialising in developing responsive application user interfaces.

I have seven years commercial experience combining HTML, CSS and JavaScript to create modular, scalable, performant web applications for companies, charities, and NGOs of all sizes.

Work

Dec. 2015 - Present

DEPT | Front-end engineer

Developing responsive web applications for enterprise-level clients such as; Adidas, Formula E., Omron, and Blackboard.

Sep. 2015 - Dec. 2015

e3creative | Front-end engineer

Developing a responsive web application for SRO Solutions using Angular.

July 2014 - Sep. 2015

Reason Digital | Front-end engineer

Developing wordpress-powered websites for non-profit organisations such as; Virgin Giving, Trussell Trust, and the University of Manchester.

July 2012 - July 2014

Cube3 | Junior Front-end engineer

Responsibilities; HTML email development, assisting senior developers on full-scale builds, and developing campaign micro-sites for Revolution bars, the agency's largest client.

Education

Sep. 2009 - July 2012

University of Central Lancashire

Interactive Digital Media (BSc.)

Web Development, User Experience, Applied Graphics, Video, Audio, Enterprise.

Sep. 2008 - July 2009

College of Manchester

Computer Science & Engineering (Access to H.E.)

Computer Science, Mechanical Engineering, Electrical Engineering.